A RAND JURY SCANDAL IN

Vital Evidence Strangely Vanishes as Suspicion Points to Member; Clash Secret Leaks Out

A grand jury scandal that has every promise of developing sensations of far-reaching effect became known to The Times last night when it was learned that evidence regarded as the most important in the investigation of the Aimee Semple Mc-Pherson mystery case has been destroyed or hidden from the authorities by one of the grand jurors. This amazing situation, believed to be without parallel in local grand jury history, has been guarded by the closest secrecy since the disappearance

BUCHAREST (Rumania) Aug. 8. (P)
Reports of an asserted insurrection in Russia continue to reach the flewspapers here.

The latest of these are to the effect that the soviet leet has gone over to Gregory Zinovief and it attacking the southern littoral and that Zinovief has been wounded and that Leon Trotzky is a fugitive.

It is further rumored that the soviet has ordered a general mobilization.

Although there are neither details nor corroboration of these reports from authoritative sources, their persistency has led to the belief in some quarters here that there is a serious situation in Russia.

All of the evidence obtained by Mr. Ryan during his investigation in Carmel, where several witnesses asserted photos of Mrs. McPherson bore a marked resemblance to "Mrs. McIntire," had been passed from one juror to another.

It was due to this fact that it was possible to trace the two tiny and valuable slips of paper to the one juror under fire. The juror is said to have denied any responsibility for the missing evidence.

The latest American note which has just been delivered to the Mexican Foreign Office by Ambassador Ethemeld is a reiteration of this government's attitude in regard to rights of American citizens and takes up, it is understood, certain phases of the Mexican petroleum and land laws. LAWS RETROACTIVE

The religious situation having added to the delicacy of the relistons between the two governments, state Department officials have declined to make any comment whatever on the problems now under distoussion. It is the opinion of well-informed American authorities, however, that both the mineral, or petroleum law, and the alien land law are retroactive in effect and that their practical operation would bring about a thinly veiled confication of properties which had been legally acquired by American citizens prior to the adoption of the 1917 Constitution.

No inamediate solution of the differences between the two governments is in sight, in view of these many controllers, but on the other hand the controversy is likely to be long drawn out. They see the possibility of an impasse over this problem, unless some new and unforeseen factors in the constituted government, is a factor of the mbargo which the United States has placed against the importation of arms into Mexico except to the constituted government, is a factor which must be taken into consideration. NATIVES FOND OF CROCODILES two services, amounting roughly to $585,000,000, seems quite clear. The language of the army air-increase act makes it seem mandatory. In reporting it to the House, Chairman Morin of the military committee said the air expansion is to be accomplished "without taking this increase away from the other arms" and the same thing is at least implied in the navy air program.

DIFFERENCE IN FIGURES

Authorized strength and actual strength, however, are two quite different things from a budget point of view. The present authorized strength of the army enlisted force is and has been since 1922, fixed at 125,000 men inclusive of the air corps.

"If we attempt to carry out the content of view. The present authorized strength of the army enlisted force is and has been since 1922, fixed at 125,000 men inclusive of the air corps." If we attempt to carry out the other budget problem still to be dealt with.

"If we attempt to carry out the provisions in this (air expansion) bill at the expense of the other branches, with no more than $265,000,000 a year, we must lose from 20,000 to 25,000 men from other branches," Gen. Conner told the Senators. "Such a solution ruins the Army beyond hope of recovery."

ander the law must go to Congress timate. There is no such restriction as to the navy air increase. It will be lumped in with other requirements and, if a full year is to be provided for, probably will bring nry estimates somewhere between $330,000,000 and $340,000,000 for the lext fiscal year, as compared with x330,000,000 and $340,000,000 for the next fiscal year as compared with $319,000,000, exclusive of contract authorizations and reappropriations, in the current act.

Navy figures brought out/during the hearings dealt only with the cort of new planes and airships, ignoring the question of additional personnel and many indirect items. Rear-Admiral Moffat, navy air chief, placed the equipment cost for the five years at $85,000,000 or an average of around $17,000,000 additional each year.

Mail-Gen. Patrick, army air chief, told the Congressional committees that the life of a modern plane is about four years. That means that sir increase eximates now under consideration must provide against an avanual "washout" of equipment with none of the planes bought in the first of the five years remaining in service during the fifth year.

The combined program calls for 2600 active planes at the end of five years, 1000 for the Navy and 1800 for the Army and vational Guard. It also authorizes two monster dirigibles for the Navy. But when Congress closed up shop and went home to fix up political fences, it left behind an appropriation of only $307,500 to start the work. Of that $300,000 is for an all-metal experimental dirigible for which the Navy did not ask, and the remainder is to pay the first year's salary of the new Assixant Secretary for Air in the Nav, Department.

When the outcry was raised against him because of activities of his half-brother he protested his sympathy with the Allies, but finally he was interned.

He died recently in San Remo, Italy.

Miss Eastman, according to the stories, was last seen proceeding on horseback from Leninakan in the direction of Mount Alacoz, to visit a family. When she failed to return at night, searching parties were organized, but without succes.

At the American Consulate in Constantinople, Miss Eastman's registered address is Chicago, where, the records show, she has a relative, Rev. O. S. Eastman.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8. The grandfather, Rev. Charles S. Eastman of Chicago, a retired Methodist minister, said he had not heard from them since.

The Eastman, was adopted by his son twenty years ago. The grandfather failed to remember the girl's real parents. He said she had been in the Near East relief work for several years and that her parents had been relief workers in Europe and Asia since 1915.

Repairing of Damage and Salvaging of Crop Land After Break Start Today

STOCKTON, Aug. 8. (#)—Dredgers will start tomorrow to build levees to reclaim the rich agricultural lands to reclaim the rich agricultural lands of Bethel Island which have been submerged under ten feet of water since last Wednesday. Pile drivers already are active, sinking piles in the foundation of the washed away leves to serve as forms for reclamation purposes. More than fifty men will be employed.

The damage brought on by the disaster has been placed at $100,000, according to Roy Davis, president of the Antioch Bank. Growing crops of celery, corn and beets were destroyed.

Five large pumps are being rushed to the scene of the flood to be in readiness to start pumping water as soon as sufficient levee has been constructed to allow drainage. The island has one large pump, Davis said, but cannot cope with the lake of water.

From reliable quarters it was learned by The Times this juror was accused of having left the grand jury room shortly after the two slips of paper reached the juror's hands and that at least one other member reported they had seen the evidence in the possession of the person charged. This particular bit of evidence has been preserved, it was learned. Photostatic copies of the slips were reported he had seen the evidence in slips were displayed before the jurors. It was pointed out last night the grocery slips were never turned over to a handwriting expert for comparison with any other handwriting and that this handwriting was the most tangible clew in establishing the identity of the woman who occupied the Carmel bungalow. carefully guarded until the time it disappeared.

The grocery slips were found in the back porch of the Carmel bungalow by Mr. Ryan and were identified as lists made out by "Mrs. McIntire" by Ralph S. Swanson, employee of a Carmel grocery store who delivered groceries to the cottage.

According to Mr. Swanson, the woman left the slips hanging on a nail in the back porch every day and that he copied the list into his order book, leaving the original slips behind at the bungalow.

When the fingerprints found in the cottage failed after examination by experts the handwriting samples were left as the oustanding clew to the identity of "Mrs. McIntire."

board members were present at the meeting.

In a verbal statement issued shortly after the close of the meeting it was intimated that the religious controvercy now being waged in the couthern republic and "other conditions" makes it "exceedingly dangerous" for the evangelist to make the trip at this time. The shack is said to be twelve miles south of the international boundary.

"Upon receipt of the report from the Douglas committee, the directors feel that the identification of the cubin is as complete as can be without Sister McPherson making the trip to see it with her own eyes, but conditions are such now that we do not believe it advisable at this time." Chairman J. W. Arthur announced.

ple attaches, many declaring the action to be taken having been know, as early as Sakurday morning.

Preliminary plans for the trip were made following receipt of a score of pictures Friday morning by the evangelist from the Douglas committee working in her behalf, and among which was one Mrs. McPherson declared she recognized as her desert prison. Later telegrams from Rev. Joseph E. Howard, Douglas minister, and Lieut. Leslie Gatliff of the Douglas police force, also members of the border temple committee, informed Mrs. McPherson the shack she selected was also the one they believed to be the captivity hut.

A few hours after Mrs. McPherson identified the picture of the shack, she announced that the advisability of making a third trip into Mexico would be placed in the hands of the temple board, and that she would be guided by their wishes. Yesterday's action was the board's answer and will be abided by by Mrs. Mc-Pherson, she said.

Intimation that the controversy between the Catholic church and the Mexican government might also have bearing upon an attempt Mrs. Mc-Pherson made to enter Old Mexico, was made by her mother, Mrs. Kenredy, who said temple workers are affaid for their minister, who is a Protestant. Although Mrs. Kennedy nor any other temple attaches would elaborate upon the basis for their fears, they insisted that this phase bad been one of the chief points which determined the action of the temple directors.

Thousands packed Angelus Temple yesterday to hear Mrs. McPherson yesterday to hear Mrs. McPherson during the morning and afternoon services. In the morning the parents of sixty-five children, whose ages ranged between one and ten years, dedicated the lives of their children "to the service of the Lord," the evangelist said. At this service Mrs. McPherson talked on "The Fiery Furnace" or "The Form of the Fourth," while in the afternoon her topic was "The World-Wide Revival," which was illustrated. Her evening topic was "Sitting on the Fence."

TATIONS DE LOS LUNES LA CONTROLLA DE LOS LUNES

Gentlemen: Drastic measures are born of desperate situations—and the basic rule of my whole life has been never to dodge an issue. Every observing man in the tailoring business knows that for more than six months past conditions in our line have been exasperatingly unsettled. Without gloating over the misfortunes of any of my brother merchants, I can truthfully state that an examination of the Board of Trade records of what has happened on Spring street alone in the period I have mentioned reveals a meas.

I neither assert nor believe that the riod I have mentioned reveals a mess.

I neither assert nor believe that the PACTS should be as they are, but I am a newcomer—this is my debut as boss of my own shop. My stock of exquisits woolens is sirgin new—it's big—it's all paid for—k's MINE! Happily, at the present time, Dan Parker has no creditors that could bother him—I could at back and wait for the business sun to shine, BUT I can't mark time with my aplendid organization.

tand for lay-offs; they won't work for me just part time. My shop is organ-ized on a 52-week-in-the-year basis— i must keep my crow ALWAYS busy, or I can't hold it together.

figures never lie, all liars figure," there are some signal instances wherein a plain, unvarnished recital of what HAS actually happened is the most illuminating exposition that can be made as to the merit of a going business. Since I first made my sensational $28 offer in The Times about three weeks ago, 750 Dan Parker suits have been delivered to exactly 572 actional support of the property of the IJPSTAIRS about 572 satisfied customers, at my big UPSTAIRS shop. This means, of course, that many of my customers ordered more than one suit—as a matter of fact, a few ordered as many as four. To me these figures are more than gratifying; but to YOU they should drive home a more convincing and irresistible VALUE message than could possibly be packed into any other language. Remember the homely logic of Abraham Lincoln: "You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." In those delivered suits I now have 750 live advertisements that no clamor can drown nor apse of time discount. They'll tell the whole story that I want to put across more eloquently than any feeble words of mine could possibly do the job!

-tailored to your individual measure and requirements

Positive 50 and 60 values

Gentlemen: My shop is UPSTAIRS - my rent is comparatively nothing, and my ENTIRE overhead expense amounts to only a fraction of the cost of conducting the average conventional tailoring establishment. This fundamental advantage gives me the edge on my competitors in producing COMPELLING values but it's an advantage on which I cannot cash in unless I can command a VOLUME BUSINESS. This is my justification of the heretofore unheard-of action that I am taking at this crucial time. I have simply got to keep my shop going full steam ahead or in the end I'll lose more money than my present forfeiture of all profit will represent. Don't be afraid because my price is low. There is REAL quality behind it—quality that will be backed by all the force of clean-cut CHARACTER that I have been able to gather by twenty years' exercise of faultless courage and faith in my fellow-man. Forget the low price of $28.00! Judge the suit of clothes I make for you not at $28.00, but at its REGULAR price—and if on that basis I don't absolutely make good, I don't want a cent of your money!

This is what Lady Peel says about one of her experiences in America:

Cabinet Makes His Position Unassailable

CRACOW (Poland) Aug. 8.. (Exclusive)—Eight hundred and ninety-seven picked legionnaries of Marshal Plisudski's forces who laid down their arms at the end of the Bolshevist war in 1920, carrying full army packs after six years of civilian life have plodded into Miecheff, twenty-eight miles from Cracow. They had made a third of their seventy-five-mile march to Kielce in a determined effort to show their old marshal that they are as ready for service as when they were disbanded at the end of his campaign.

RABBIT PUNCHES NATIONAL LOOP

PAUL LOWRY

HERE is much crackling and spitting in the wrestling camps these days. And with the arrival in Los Angeles this eamps these days. And with the arrival in Los Angeles this week of Billy Bandow, manager of "Strangler" Lewis, who still claims that he never loss this heavyweight title to Wayne ("Big") Munn, there probably will be more charges and counter-charges, All of which we suspect does not interest the public one whit. On the other hand, the mat fans can be aroused to a wild state of frenzy by the matching of Joe Stecher and "Strangler" Lewis. If the wild mouthings from the rival toe-twisting tongs can bring this about, why, let "bm rave. Otherwise, tie the yapping outside.

A Stecher-Lewis match is the bliggest thing in sight in the wrong direction, why, let "but he boys who are talking it up have their eye sockets bulging in the wrong direction. Billy Sandow is understood to have said Chicago will pay $100,000 to see the combat. Better take the ballyhoo back to the Windy City, Billy. There's no such gate as that in Los Angeles for a w stiling match. Talk of such is bunk, pure and simple. It's taken some darned hard work on the part of Lou Daro to bring his mat crowds up around the 7500 mark for his best shows. At the most you couldn't increase the total to more than 10,000 for a Stecher-Lewis match. And if Sandow thinks they'll pay a $10 top for seats he's badly mistaken.

Eddle Kane, manager of Light-weight Champion Sammy Mandell, is certainly doing his level best to paint the "Rockford Flash" as an exquisite little fellow of absolutely impeccable tastes and habits. While we have nothing at all against Sammy and admire him for his boxing ability, the sweet things Eddle's pa. is saying about Sammy are just too lovely for words. The lattest is a comparison with Tommy Gibbons, who was in the Kane stable until he retired, and relates the influence Tommy had upon the tender Sammy, Here's some of it: (Kane taiking)
"In all the days Gibbons was fighting for me—and we traveled all over the world—I never saw him do a thing, in the ring or out, that could be construed as not quite legitimate.

"He was the ideal home man, loving Mrs. Gibbons with a devotion that was inspiring, and thinking more of his children than most men.

"He's retired now with a brillmant record in the ring, and an anbiemished record as a gentleman.

"Mandell is much like him. He retired his father from working fin a foundry a year ago and recently gave his sister a deed to a $20,000 home.

"He is called a shelk because of his extraordinary handsomeness and ability to dress correctly and well, no matter what the mode. But he has never been a "ladies" man."

"He fell, in love his freshman year in high school and finarried the young lady after becoming champion. He only has eyes for "Pete"—that's what he calls her—and the attachment of the two only finds a counterpart in the beautiful home life of the Gibbonses."

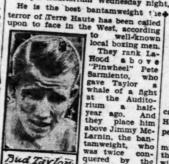

The comparison between Gibbons and Mandell also is striking along other lines. Perhaps this is explained because Gibbons was a veteran when Mandell started to fight, and the latter, naturally, was in awe of his stable partner.

When Tommy was fighting. Sammy always attempted to be in his company if it were possible. Genuine friends, the older fighter "laid down the law," in a manner of speaking, that was calculated to make the young Sammy see things in their true light. The relationship bore fruit. Sammy, now 22 and a champion, is as unaffected, as honest, as square as the time he fought for a purse of 35 cents, and lost. The glamour which often makes a victim of a youngster was no pitfall for the "Rockford Flash," who still prefers a stroll down a tree-bordered street in his home town to a wild dash down Fifth avenue in an imported car."

Johnny Kerr and Frank O'Doul were the heroes of Hollywood's victory yesterday, the pair of Stars poking out circuit swats with men on the paths to account for five of Hollywood's six runs. Kerr's drive came in the eighth with one on and the score tied, clinching the victory, while O'Doul's circuit clout was made in the sixth with two on, tying the score.

Harry O'Neill got off to a rather wobbly start and the Solons had run up a four-run lead as early as the second inning. Home runs by Jack Knight and Clarence Hoffman, brought in all four Sacramento tallies. Johnny Kerr and Frank O'Doul brought in all four Sacrama.

The visitors scored three of their four runs in the first inning, which Sweeney started by drawing a walk. Monroe doubled down the right-field line and Sweeney halted at third. At this point Knight hoisted one of O'Neill's offerings into the center-field section of the bleachers for a home run, the lanky third-spacer scoring behind Sweeney and Monroe.

It used to be that four runs would Frankie Zoellers doubled against the

OBSERVATIONS

P OR the first time in a great many years there is genuine doubt about America's abildoubt about America's abil-ity to properly defend the Davis Cup. Of the four leading play-ers in the country, three haven't shown anything that looked like ers in the country, three haven't shown anything that looked like international form, while the fourth, Vinnie Rickards, has just returned from being knocked over by the French stars not only at Paris but later at Wimbledon. It seems reasonable to believe, however, that Johnston, Tilden and Williams will regain their old form within the naxt few weeks and will be able to fight of the Frenchmen in the challenge round. The Japanese, with only one real singles star in the person of Harada, ought to be easy for France, but the French will not be easy for America, no matter how much our stars improve.

An interesting incident about Gertrude Ederle's early career is told y Frank Roche of The Times staff, who was a great friend of L, deB. Handley, the famous swimmer and coach who is responsible for her development. He says that Gertrude didn't like the water as a young-ster and was practically dragged to the swimming meets by her older sister, Margaret. "Trudy," as the conqueror of the channel, is called, was coaxed to go to

Margaret felt that the youngster was going to be a great gwimmer and kept her interest in the game up until finally one day she asked permission to enter a 440-yard championship and put Gertrude in, too. To everybody's surprise, "Trudy," who was only 14 years of age, gave the champion, Charlotte Boyle, the race of her young life, and was only nosed out by a few strokes. That started the youngster on her career as a swimmer and from that time on she was ready to break into the entries in any event any time.

WICKENBURG (Ariz.) Aug. 8.
(Exclusive)—Despite the hot season, which usually drives development workers from the desert, remarkable activity is seen in this section of Arisena's mining country. The most important work is that of the Tononah-Belmont company, which is installing a camp to the southwest, beyond the old Vulture. Nine-tentis of the material needed has been received for the power plant and pilot mill, which are expected to be in operation during September.

A 250-horsepower engine and generator have been placed on the Diamond Joe mine, ten miles east of the field.

The foundations for the hoisting plant to be installed at the collar of the shaft are now practically completed, and machinery equipment is being delivered. The company has purchased the full equipment of the Copper Giant Mining Company, and the headframe and sinking machinery are being conveyed to the new site at the White Hills, to be reassembled for regular service. The big shaft already has been sunk to a depth of thirty feet by hand work, and is said to have encountered a ledge of rich silver-gold ore. LONG BEACH, Aug. 8. deserve further consideration by it, it would appear that the associated Oil Company should be basing its work upon some other reason than the reason which prompted its predecessors to prospect there.

The lands which it has leased are hills, but subsequently it was found that swell is actually within one half mile of three dry holes and within three-fourths of a mile of a fourth dry hole.

Here the Standard drilled its Farrell well to 5700 feet and its Potter & Smith well to 5000 feet; the Mariand has just abandoned its Connoliy well at 5500 feet; the Union drilled its Wagner well to 4300 feet.

The Burnham Exploration Company drilled its Wagner well to 5500 feet; and the Santa Fe or C.G.M.O. drilled its Bilhorn well to 6000 feet. The Pan-American drilled two dry holes one to 4400 feet, and the other to 6100 feet. At Western avenue and fiellevue the Shell company drilled a deep well.

The Baldwin Hills are the largest topographic feature in the chain of Beverly Hills to Huntington Beach Each prominent topographic furit has had an oil field found in it, save at Seal Beach and in the Potrero district where the Associated Oil Company is now drilling.

This particular district lies approximately midway between the Rosecrans and Inglewoof fields, and so far as spacing along the line of hills is concerned, there is a gap large enough for an oil field. Furthermore, the prominence of the hills in this district is second only to the prominence of the hills in this district is second only to the prominence of the hills in the Inglewoof field.

It is possible that the Associated Oil Company would be more nearly at the true center of the high ground, and the location of the Associated Oil Company is attempting to apply the experience had by operators in the Baldwin Hills to the Potrero district. A.: It is a pleasure indeed to serve you to the best of our limited ability. Sample No. 1 is amphibole (rock) containing a low percentage of pyrite (iron disulphide.) Copper is present in the mineralogical forms of Bornite, known to the mining roys in the hills as "peacock iron," and Chalcopyriee (iron copper suiphide.) No. 2 is quartzitic rock; It carries traces on incroscopic pyrite and chalcopyrite; it is stained yellow and red with iron peroxides (limonite and hematite respectively.) Microscopic yellow mica, known as "Cat gold," sparingly found. We could not detect a trace of free gold in either cample, but the named sulphides may yield gold by fire assays.

Continental Oil Action Regarded as Significant

HOLBROOK (Aris.) Aug. 8. (Exclusive)—The Continental Oil Com-pany, which recently built a pipe pany, which recently built a pipe line into Gallup from the northern fields, has filed articles of incorporation in Arizona. This is regarded as a movement toward activity on this side of the New Mexico-Arizona line. Directors named are S. H. Keoughan, W. H. Ferguson, A. B. Ferrea and C. F. Smith of Denver and William H. Geis of Los Angeles.

The Adamana Oil and Land Company has had its annual election, all directors chosen being Arizonans except Fred R. Fulham of Los Angeles. Dr. F. W. Green heads the board. Drilling at the well is to be continued. At the Great Basin Oil Company's well several futile attempts have been made to cement off water.

RICHARDSON'S ENEMIES

Three weeks from tomorrow the Republican electors of This California will nominate a Governor who, in the normal course of events, will be elected in November.

Gov. Richardson, incumbent, is opposed by several candidates, each of whom has his particular reason for being in the contest; each has his particular group or faction; each is pursuing his own course in his own way, with the exception of Lieut.-Gov. Young, whose campaign is being conducted and directed by Senator Johnson and the political bosses allied with Johnson-Alex McCabe and Tom Finn in San Francisco and Kent Parrot in Los Angeles.

The enmity of Johnson for Richardson is easily explained. Richardson refused to take Johnson's orders, refused to appoint to public office Johnson's political henchmen, refused to continue in State government the costly and extravagant regime fortered by Johnson and McCabe.

Senator Johnson and McCabe.

Senator Johnson is now in California seeking to impose his political will on the people of this State. He is attempting to elect as United States Senator a man unfriendly to the administration of President Coolidge, and is urging the election of a Governor who has been and is and will continue to be his political creature.

Incidentally, Senator Johnson is seeking to avoid his own elimination from California politics. His motives are selfish, his methods are those of the professional politician, and his objects are, to say the least, eminently practical. Known to his friends as to his opponents as one of the most selfish and calculating men in public life, Mr. Johnson invites unequivocal and speedy repudiation when he seeks to pose as a distinter-ested and zealous crusader for political idealism.

What he may have been as a young man, what high ideals he may have possessed, how eagerly and sincerely he may have labored for the public good, how unselfish may have been his aims, are considerations no longer in issue. Senator Johnson is today a calculating and an embittered and disappointed man, depending upon professional politicians and professional politics for solace and comfort.

Should another than himself embark upon a course such as he is now himself pursuing the air would be filled with his clamorous invective and denunciation. It is the disposition of a demagogue to denounce in others the qualities which characterize himself. And it is as a demagogue bereft of the faculty of seeing himself as others see him that Mr. Johnson omes charging down through the State arm-in-arm with the political bosses who are seeking to further his presumptuous

No keener analysis of what he has become, of what his as-pirations are, of what he actually thinks of himself and his friends, has or can be written than he wrote himself of himself in his remarkably frank letter of confession to C. K. McClatchy

This letter, written before the last Presidential election, foretold prophetically what would occur should Johnson be-come a candidate for the Presidency; it related with almost brazen candor what the Senator's estimate is of his own political morality. Moved by a spirit of self-revelation, Mr. Johnson spoke his honest convictions.

Among other things, he said:

"We lost California principally because we compromised with those who only compromised because they feared we would whip them and who remained as conservative and reactionary as ever, but bided their time to strike. We destroyed the morale of progress and convinced the ordinary individual that we are no different from our opponents, that both sought political success only.

"My strength while I was Governor was in never yielding to the old rotten crew, standing always the same. My weak-ness today is that I have yielded and given power, position and political strength to the very men I so often formerly de-

"What friends we have in Los Angeles are discouraged, and not only that, but they do not command the confidence of the general public. No newspapers can be counted on there, as we have learned to our cost."

The story of a political rise and fall is embraced in those few paragraphs; beginning as a professed foe of political bosses and the evils they represent, Mr. Johnson by his own admissions and by his associations has become their confederate and a champion of their cause.

Mr. Johnson espouses the election of Young as Governor because he hopes through Young to rebuild his own political fortunes; he opposes the re-election of Richardson because Richardson appears as a stumbling block to his political for-

Richardson appears as a stumbling block to his political fortunes. He favors Clarke for Senator because, with a Southern true to facilities of the California man elected this year, it will be possible for him, Johnson, a northern man, to be re-elected in 1928. Also, as a unit in their desire to obtain his defeat, are arrayed against him the radicals, the parlor socialists, the I.W.W., the professional criminal element, an army of job-holders whom his frugal administration has forced from the public pay roll, and an even larger army of out-atseld of aero-tring the in-science as a elbows individuals who look to Senator Johnson, McCabe, Finn and Parrot for reward in the event Young is elected.

Applications for listing the stock of the California Eastern Oil Company will be filed with the New York. San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock exchanges, Mr. Lewis said. The California Eastern Oil Company has been incorporated at 5,000,000 shares of stock at no par value, Mr. Lewis stated, and has a book value, figured on the basis of outstanding stock, at slightly more than $10.

The Marine Corporation has outstanding 3,750,000 shares of stock, and the cash offer involves $6,187,000. Mr. Lewis stated.

The price of the Julian stock will be determined upon the basis of an investigation and appraisal now being made by engineers.

D. M. Smith, president of the Marine Corporation, in a letter to the stockholders of his company advised them that he was accepting the Lewis offer.

leads the nation in population growth, according to figures compiled from official sources by State Controller Riley.
All records of former growth have been shattered in the last ten years. Wealth, population and industry are moving to the West at a constantly accelerating pace.
Such a movement of population has never before been recorded in times of peace.
Los Angeles is the fifth city of the country to be enrolled in the 1,000,000 class; but other cities of the State, both north and south, have not been sleeping. San Francisco, despite the disaster of 1906, when it lost 150,000 population in three days of flame and terror, is adding more to its pop-ulation every year than any California city except Los Angeles; with the result that two California cities are now enrolled in the group of the first ten, and California is the only State to achieve this distinction. The material prosperity of the Golden State can no longer be disputed or concealed. Other communities take occasional spurts forward, only to fall back, but the forward movement of the west coast is as fixed as that of the stars in their orbits.

And Southern California is the new Arcady where wealth and beauty love to lin--the Promised Land, where many come and few depart.

Perhaps we are the favored, the spoiled child of destiny. The very errors we commit seem to redound to our profit. There is no more notable instance in modern and nals of a city that grows in spite of itself than that of San Francisco. Had the generation in that city now passing paralleled that of Los Angeles in taking advantage of its opportunities San Francisco might now be counted in the 1,000,000 class. La-bor-union tyranny has hunted many industries from its gates. The failure to bridge or tunnel San Francisco Bay continues to be a handicap. Labor-union strikes in the building trades turn capital for investment to communities not so indicted. But San Francisco continues to grow; and in its growth the whole State takes pride.

As for the growth of Los Angeles, the figures of the State Controller are more eloquent than spoken or written words. In 1880 its population was 11,000; in 1890, 50,-000; in 1900, 103,000; in 1910, 319,000; in 1920, 576,000; and its present estimated population—an estimate made by an official who resides 400 miles from here and cannot be charged with being under the influence of our boosters—is 1,260,000.

While the population of the city of Los Angeles is greater than that of the seven southern counties, excluding the city, the outside growth is so steady and rapid that this will probably not be true a decade hence; for the star of destiny is not a spotlight fixed on this city only. Los Angeles may be compared to a diamond set in platinum and surrounded by a circlet of precious stones. And how those jewels scintillate with their electric lights when viewed from an airplane after twilight has fallen! Long Beach, Santa Monica, Glendale, Pasadeni effulgent Los Angeles in their midst.

And beyond this circlet is a second group of flourishing cities, stretching like a crescent moon from San Diego to Santa Bar-bara. The lights at night inside that cresoutnumber the visible stars of the

the air last evening, one realized what an asset Southern California has in Harold Roberts' Golden State Band. This organization is composed of fine, upstandir'z young men, who have an ideal and are working faithfully to attain it. Their program opened with the stirring "Coronation March" from Meyerbeer's "The Prophet," and from first to last their playing was inspiring.

A guest planist from Winnipeg,
Man., Miss Myrtle Norma Ruttan,

Lois Frances Logan

To LITTLE Lois Frances Logan, NEW STORE Maescher can enevr be any-thing more than a dim recollection of her childhood. For the law has ruled that Lois may not enjoy the wealth which Macscher, in his will, indicated he wished her to have. In-stead it will go to his widow, from whom he separated many years octore he died, and to his aister and brothers.

A decision of the Supreme Court, upholding the decision of a jury of Judge Watton J. Wood's court, has established that Maescher was unduly influenced by little Lois's foster mother. Lottie T. Logan of Eagle Rock, when he drew his will.

In 1902, Maescher married Minnis Maescher in the East. In 1912 they parted. Maescher came to California, and eventually made his home in Eagle Rock, where Mrs. Logan served aim as housekeeper. He became deeply attached to Lois, and his will left all of his estate to her except $20,000 devised to Mrs. Logan and $5000 left to Mrs. Maescher.

Mrs. Maescher and the brothers and sister of the decedent contested the will. Their attorneys, Mauric-Eparling and Courtney A. Teel, successfully defended the jury decision in the Supreme Court. They have started the last proceeding in the action by petitioning Judge Reeve for letters of administration

ORPHEUM OFFERS INFORMAL BILL

Program Well Rounded, With Bric Sharing Honors

BY HERBERT MOULTON nformality reigns on the Or-um's crackerjack new bill, which with Pannie eventually coming out on top.

This same friendly spirit of informality is engendered throughout the performance by the appearance of Bard at the beginning of each act as master of ceremonies. His patter is amusing and adds a lot to the general merit of the show.

Things don't really begin to get under way until a pair of wry-faced little comedians, Shaw and Lee, put in their appearance. They are the comic hits of the show and although everything they do and say is just plumb foolish, I defy you not to laugh.

Moreon Thesist, will continue in this capacity on the new plays, and in capacity of the seven and an anometed yesteredgy that Paul Whiteman, the line of jans, and the street that the theory of the correct attraction is that heater.

LIVING EVE DISCOVERED

BY AUTOIST

But This Hollywood Miss Carried Brace of Pistols In Her Vanity Case

Rollywood, without knowing it, was host to a living Eve, an extremely attractive miss almost as devoid of clothing as the first woman who trekked the Garden of Eden behind a fig leaf, but a two-gun woman who numbered among her few accessories a couple of six shooters, it became 'known yesterday with the report to Hollywood police of Jack Basco, 1212 Genessee street, who had the acantily clad miss for his companion for a short automobile ride in the early morning hours.

It all happened as Basco was en route to his home, he explained to police. It was nearly 3 am, when he was hailed by the young woman, whom he described as very attractive and about 22 years of age, at Bunset Boulevard and Western svenue. At the girl's request, Basco entered into the role of the good Samaritan and continued on his way to Highland and Franklin avenue, the point designated by his fair passenger as her destination.
